"A GRIMSBY BOY IN FRANCE"

GRIMSBY AND DISTRICT HONOR ROLL

For the purpose of having the Honor Roll of GRIMSBY and District kept up-to-date, and all particulars of service of the members kept track of, it is requested that relatives and friends of all men in the Service forward the following information to J. A. M. Livingston, GRIMSBY, Ontario, who, as Secretary of the GRIMSBY and District Branch, Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, is endeavouring to bring the Honor Roll of this District up to date.

This will not be a great deal of trouble, and will be of incalculable value to the Town and District.

Number; Name; Rank; Corps enlisting in; Corps and date of proceeding to England; Corps while in England; Date of proceeding to France; Corps drafted to; Date and rank of any promotions, or reversions in rank; If wounded, once or more, the dates and location, if possible; If killed in action, the date and location, if possible; If decorated, the date and class of decoration, and for what particular action; or if mentioned in despatch, date and action for which "mention" is made. If returned to Canada, date of return, and if discharged, date of discharge; if not wounded, gassed or shell-shocked, but returned to Canada and discharged for any other reason, the date of return and reason; and if subsequently re-enlisted, date and Corps.

If the relatives, all men who have donned the Aug's uniform, for whatever purpose, will co-operate with the Secretary of the G. W. V. A. in supplying the above information.

The Honor Roll of GRIMSBY and District will be complete in every detail, with but very little trouble and it is urged that the information requested be supplied as soon as possible.

For those who have not proceeded overseas, but who have been doing duty in Canada, practically the same information is required, however far as the particulars of their service is concerned.

Don't delay, but send this information in right away—it will be appreciated, and will greatly help in the up-keep of a permanent record to our heroes' services in the present great war.

TO INTERN MAN WHO PLANNED INVASION OF CANADA

New York, Aug. 18.—Interventor Dr. Frederick August Richard von Stremach, a wealthy physician of this city, who was arrested recently on a Presidential warrant, was recommended to-day by the Enemy Alien Bureau.

Von Stremach, who said he had been a protege of Bismarck, is declared by the authorities to have written to the German Emperor at the outbreak of the war, offering his services in any capacity. He also communicated with Capt. Franz von Papen, and was alleged to have favored sending German emissaries from this country to Canada, to stop the flow of Canadian troops to France.

HOMME LOU-VILLE MEATS

Certain parts of the butchered carcasses which provide us with meat are comparatively low in price. These parts have not been generally popular in this country although they are in great demand in Europe and also in the United States. Beef hearts, livers, tripe, or tail's, sheep's heads, calves' heads, pigs' feet and many other parts of the carcasses might well be used more freely in Canada than they are, thus reducing the pressure of the demand upon roasts, steaks and other higher priced cuts. Any good recipe book will tell you how to cook these cheaper meats and make of them delicious, tempting dishes.

GRIMSBY BOYS WOUNDED IN THE BIG OFFENSIVE

Beautiful island settings in and about Honolulu are features of Romeo Hayakawa's Paramount picture, "Hidden Pearl," showing Sunday, Aug. 26th at Bowes' Theatre. A photoplay and novel in character as "The Bottle Imp," "Hidden Pearl" is a unique production written by British Marie Dill and directed by George K. Hartford. The cast includes Theodore Roberts and Margaret Lamont, as well as Jack Holt, Florence Vidor, Anna Q. Nilsson and other popular players. It is a story of intrigue and pearl hunting, concluding a very unusual love affair between a native girl and Hayakawa, himself a half-breed.

GRIMSBY BOYS WOUNDED IN THE BIG OFFENSIVE

GRIMSBY and District is feeling the effects of the latest push by the Allies on the Western Front, in the casualty list, and it is to be hoped that those of our brave lads have anything more serious happen to them, than to be wounded badly enough to reach a Base Hospital, and probably England for convalescence and rest, after participating in the Hell that it is certain the Canadians are going through at the present time.

Up to the time of going to press the following casualties have been reported:

KITCHEN, Fred, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kitchen, and the second boy of their family to be wounded, has been put out of action by gun-shot wound in the chin, neck and both hands. Fred Kitchen enlisted in the 173rd Battalion, Hamilton, in 1916, and proceeded to England with that unit the same year. He was drafted to France in November of 1917, and has been with a Western Battalion there since that time, serving with the machine-gun section.

JACKSON, Andrew, a son of David and Mrs. Jackson, GRIMSBY, who has probably gained a trip to "Hell" through a gun-shot wound in the left thigh, and is at present in No. 3 General Hospital, Boulogne, in the 120th Battalion, Hamilton, in 1916; was promoted to Sergeant of that unit and proceeded overseas in 1916. After a long time in England and as an instructional Sergeant, he reverted to the ranks in order to see some action, and was drafted to a Western Battalion in February of 1918.

KELLY, James, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, formerly of Orlin Township, but lately of GRIMSBY, and proceeded overseas some time ago. His service in France has been of quite lengthy duration.

FOLEY, Ernest, of GRIMSBY, enlisted with the Depot C. R. E. and proceeded overseas with that unit. He was drafted to a service battalion in the Canadian Mounted Rifles Brigade, in France, some several months ago, and has seen a good deal of action previous to being wounded.

CHAMBERS, John, eldest son of Mr. J. W. Chambers, John Street, GRIMSBY, who enlisted with the 16th Battalion in 1915, proceeded to England with that unit, and was drafted to France, sometime in 1916, to No. 16 General Hospital, LeTreport, France, on 12th August with gun-shot wound in knee.

ST. JAMES, Edwin, J., the youngest son of Marcus and Mrs. St. James, ORGIGEES First, enlisted with the Japanese Regiment, C. M. R. Hamilton in October, 1915, and after training with that unit in Hamilton for two months, went overseas on a draft in the early part of 1916. He was but a short time in England before going to France, and was drafted to Winnipeg Battalion in December, 1916. His wounds are considered to be serious, consisting of gun-shot wounds in back and compound fracture of upper extremities.

Other casualties of which no particulars are available in this office are:

WATSON, G. E. (Lieut.), Beamsville.

LAY, J. S. (M. M.), Beamsville.

SHOREY, Mr., Beamsville.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE DESTROYS THE RESIDENCE OF DR. DONALD CLARKE

About four o'clock this morning crashed in. The house, as it stands now, is this but a shell and the fire Dr. Clarke will be quite heavy, although the insurance will partially cover it.

During the excitement some eager persons rushed away to GRIMSBY Beach to prevent the loss of the charred remains of the Beach Company, but as it was early assured them by the Beach manager, on the excuse that "we would be without protection if anything happened here." The GRIMSBY Beach manager has evidently forgotten the two occasions when the citizens of GRIMSBY deserted the Village, almost to a man, in order to render help to save the Beach from being wiped off the map, without ever thinking of their own "half-acre" not being protected while they were away with the apparatus available.

The opposite spirit was shown by the Commandant of the School of Aerial Gunnery, R. A. F., Beamsville Camp, when he met the Camp's charred back, with a crew, to the scene of the fire, on the double. He was the Camp at Beamsville to L. wiped out while its fire protection was away at another fire, it would be far more serious than if the whole of the Beach property were completely destroyed.

The fire apparently started in the kitchen, to the north of the main building, and attached to it, and was discovered by Dr. Clarke's younger daughter, Douglas, who aroused the house-hold and notified the telephone Central in order that the alarm might be given.

The total contents of the house were saved by a great deal of hard work on the part of those on the scene, and were not damaged to any extent except laundry as being handled very hurriedly would damage them.

The water-supply gave out very shortly after a bucket-line had been formed, and it was seen that nothing could be done to save the house from being almost a total loss; as soon as the fire had spread to the rest of the main building the walls began to collapse with the heat, and very shortly the roof

HARRY DROPE ESCAPED THROUGH RUSSIA

He was 22 Days Baking the Journey Across Poland

London, Aug. 15.—The Canadian Press encountered the first Canadian prisoner of war to escape via Russia. Private 474622, G. E. D. Dope, who reached London to-day, was formerly an insurance agent in Regina. He was captured and wounded at Sanctuary Wood in Jan., 1916, and sent to West Prussia. There he was employed in reconstruction work and sent to Hanover, one of the worst cases of Germania where he spent 18 months. He escaped with an aide of Russian across Poland, Germany taking 22 days. He eventually reached Berlin, where he obtained a visa to Moscow. There he took

LIEUT. DELOS COLE, AN OLD GRIMSBY BOY WOUNDED

In a telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cole, of Burlington it was stated that their son, DeLois Harold Cole, had been officially reported wounded and was now recuperating at the Second Westmoreland military hospital at Rouen, France. Lieut. Cole was through the battles of Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele, Lens and Hill 70. For valiant service at Vimy Ridge he received sergeant's stripes and after the battle of Passchendaele and Lens he was awarded a military medal. After the battle of Hill 70 he was transferred to England, where he took out his commission as a Lieutenant, returning to France on May 14 with the 27th battery, 4th Brigade, where he served till the time he was wounded. Lieut. Cole enlisted in Toronto and went to England with the 14th battery, and on leaving for France was transferred to the 4th battery. Lieut. Cole has now seen 16 months' service in France, and is eager to get back with his men on the firing line again.

Lieut. Cole was born in GRIMSBY and spent most of his boyhood here. His father, A. C. Cole or as he was popularly known here "Young One" was born in GRIMSBY and lived here all his life until he went to Burlington as Station Agent for the Grand Trunk Railway. Mrs. Cole was a Miss Price of Jordan. They have but two sons and both are overseas, and their parents justify feels very proud of their boys.

A short time ago the Editor of The Independent was at Burlington and saw the Military Medal won by Lieut. Cole.

Nearly all of the GRIMSBY boys are living up to our traditions. There are only a few slackers left who are used to mammy's open strings, afraid to make the big adventure.

GRIMSBY BEACH ZEPHYRS

Last Friday, the Dominion Shipping C. picnic, over 1000 strong, came to the Beach on tour of the Canada Steamship Line's Steamers. A fine head accompanied the excursion and a splendid day was spent by the crowd.

The fruit growers have started to bring some peaches and nectarines to the G. T. R. station, but the crop in this section is not nearly what it should be owing to the extreme cold of the past winter.

The Beach looks much better now, than it has for some time.

The U. S. R. Agent reports that the traffic into the Beach this year, exceeds last year's by at least fifty per cent. for the corresponding month.

On Saturday last, the Plumbers and Steamfitters of Toronto invaded the Beach, about 1200 strong and spent a very pleasant day.

It is estimated that over two-thousand people enjoyed the many attractions at the Beach on Saturday last, driving in from the district surrounding. The weather was most favorable for a most enjoyable day, and it seemed almost an echo of the First of July of former years.

BORN

At the Presbyterian Manse, Lyndoch, on August 5th, to the wife of LaVerne Linden, (Elia K. Ross) a daughter.

ATTEMPT AT SHOP-BREAKING INTO GRIMSBY FRUIT GROWERS' FRUIT SHOPS AND OFFICES

On Saturday night, August 17th, County Constable Judson O. Konkle, in conjunction with two plain-clothes men of the Hamilton detective department, took into custody three young men of the Ambitious City, and lodged them in the Hamilton Jail for an attempt to break into the fruit sheds and offices of the GRIMSBY fruit growers, Limited, on the fruit shipping platform at the Grand Trunk Station.

It appears that the young gentlemen of none-too-strait morals were known to have left Hamilton on Saturday evening, in an automobile, with the object of entering and perhaps appropriating such valuables as fell under their hands, a place in this thriving Village, where they were not rightfully supposed to have access.

In the meantime, Constable Konkle and his comrade from Hamilton, had taken up their positions where they could watch and hear the proceedings, without being seen, themselves, and after the attempt to break into the buildings had been given up, the sleuths followed the "bad men" and placed them under arrest.

They were taken to Hamilton and appeared before Magistrate Kidd, but were returned to GRIMSBY to be dealt with upon request of the local parties concerned, and were arraigned in front of Police-Magistrate Kidd and Magistrate Dope, with County Crown Attorney W. Brennan, prosecuting, on Tuesday of this week.

James Bradley, appraiser in his own defense, did not cross-examine the Crown witness and were remanded for trial.

They are all young men in their early twenties, and were well-dressed, and they appeared quite confident that when they come to trial and have their counsel appear in their behalf, they will easily escape conviction.

They all claim it is the first appearance before a Court

CARLYLE BLACKWELL
MURIEL OSBORNE
EVILYN GREENOP

"The Good for Nothing" is to be seen

of the new world-Picture Brady-Made which will be shown on Monday, Aug. 28th at Bowes' Theatre.

The stars in this delightful production are G. E. Blackwell, Muriel Osborne and Evelyn Greenop. The production was also directed by Mr. Blackwell who has made the picture a history of beauty and joy. The story tells of the manner in which a good man made good. Jack, the man who didn't make good, is played by Carlyle Blackwell. It is a good character that Mr. Blackwell has made of Jack and we are glad by Muriel Osborne and Evelyn Greenop in making the picture a most notable offering. The scenic effects are notable.

CHANGE IN ROUTE OF NEW HIGHWAY

Main Street from Hamilton to R.R. Stony Creek to be Relocated

The Provincial highway from Hamilton to the Niagara frontier, taken over by the Ontario Government, will not follow absolutely the Queenston and Grimsby or Stony Creek Road. It has been decided by the Highways Department to follow Main Street from Hamilton to a point near Stony Creek on the Stony Creek Road. This route was preferred to the Barton Road and the Stony Creek Road itself, since it avoids the Red Hill railway crossing and is clear of radial railway tracks. It is a mile shorter than the Creek Road and the clear land on either side permits of widening to six feet, ten width desired for provincial highways.

Last Friday a population from Lincoln County composed of Warner Phoenix, L. H. Collard, chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee and Peter Robinson, roads superintendent, waited upon W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways, to seek information about the work the Government intends doing on the road this year. Mr. McLean stated that he work would be chiefly maintenance and that the out-of-ditching, with permanent surfacing in a few places, where it will lower maintenance costs. The department, said the deputy, did not believe in proceeding with permanent work until its engineers had had at least a Spring and a Fall to study the condition of the road foundation, etc. In this way thousands of dollars would be saved.

Keep Your Paper FOR THE RED CROSS

The GRIMSBY Women's Institute are still anxious to get paper to be sold for the benefit of their Red Cross work. All parties who have old papers or magazines or old rubber should keep them for this purpose.

Fold your paper about a foot square and stack them one on top of the other until you have a bundle about a foot deep, then tie it up with good strong string, one that will not break easily. Keep your magazines separately and tie them up in bundles with strong cord. When you have a sufficient number bring them to the paper building on the east side of the Independent Block GRIMSBY.

Those who cannot deliver the paper themselves in the building, should notify the Independent Office and an automobile will call for the paper.

Periodical collections will be made in the Village, but the parties who make collections, are busy men and all papers should be tied up in bundles, so that they can be put into an automobile quickly, so as to save time. Parties in the township, who have no way of delivering the paper themselves should make arrangements with some neighbor to bring them to the paper house on his draw or in his automobile.

The Salvation Army from HAMILTON has been gathering papers in GRIMSBY and district, and this organization has no tabernacle in GRIMSBY. The GRIMSBY people should loan their paper for their local Red Cross boost. If a thousand families save all the paper, they will soon make a load.

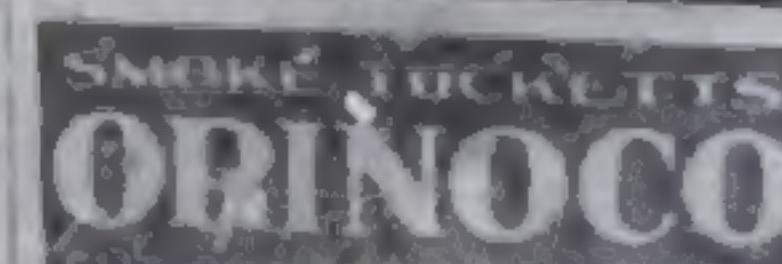

Do not roll the paper into small rolls as they have to be unrolled before they go in the holes and this work costs almost as much as the paper is worth.

If these instructions are followed carefully the Red Cross can make some money out of waste paper.

MONEY TO LOAN

Parties wishing to buy off old lots, to purchase more land, or to make improvements, can secure either private or company money at reasonable rates.

Moderate charges for getting loan through. For full particulars apply to H. B. APPERSON, Vintner, Grimsby.

It is drawn to the attention of our readers that under the Canadian Registration Act all persons who were not of the age of sixteen years or over previous to the first of June and who have subsequently celebrated their sixteenth birthday that they must, within thirty days of celebrating such birthday, present themselves before the local Postmaster and make their Registration. Any person who changes their address must notify the Registration Board, Ottawa, immediately, of such change. And any person who marries, must notify the Registration Board, Ottawa, of such marriage. These letters should be addressed "Canadian Registration Board, Ottawa," and are free from postal charges.

Three large boats containing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of English woolens for Canada, were sunk by Submarines in last month. We, despite the great shortage in woolens are still in a position to sell you clothing at reasonable prices and still give good substantial goods that will not assume that "cotton" look after a few weeks wear. We have ready-made suits from $10.00 up to $30.00 and make up suits to order from $15.00 to $45.00. We manufacture our own goods and can positively save you money on any clothing you may intend to buy. We would also advise that the sooner you buy the better, as the American is better now, and prices lower than they will be later on. Assuming you of our best services at all times, Parrar Co. Shoe Manufacturer, 5 Market Square, Hamilton. We give premium tickets.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH BAZAAR & GREAT SUITES

We opened the annual Bazaar of St. Joseph's (R. C.) Church, held on three evenings last week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, on the Church grounds, Pittet St., was an unequalled success.

The Bazaar has now become a fixture in GRIMSBY, and not only do the local people turn out to enjoy themselves, but there is generally a good attendance from outside points, and people this year were there from Toronto, Brampton, and Yankton Hill. This town is a little larger than Beamsville and possesses a fine collegiate. It is somewhat of a coincidence that our two forms of principals should both go to the leaders end of the province and will be so closely situated.

Saturday night was the big night and the usual large crowd was on hand to participate in the enjoyment.

The dancing platform, made for which was provided by Wilson's Orchestra and local young ladies was well patronized and all the booths did a good business.

The big centre of attraction was the wheel of fortune and hundreds of articles were distributed to lucky holders of winning numbers. The grand prize-drawing took place at twelve-thirty, Borden's time, which of course, was only eleven-thirty by our time, and the prizes were distributed as follows:

First—Mahogany Rocker—J. Pittie, Thorold.

Second—Parlor Table—E. Prazer, 29 Stinson St., Hamilton.

Third—Gold Piece—Miss McFarlane, 28 Monroe St., Toronto.

Fourth—Bronze Fish Bowl—M. C. Hyatt, 33 James St., St. Catharines.

Fifth—Bronze Marble Figures—Mrs. Fred Howell, Beamsville.

Sixth—Mosaic Clock, GRIMSBY.

Rev. Father Longo and the members of St. Joseph's Church desire to express their very sincere thanks to the people for their liberal patronage and to those who kindly offered and gave their assistance to make the Bazaar the success it was.

VERNON PIETT RUN OVER BY AUTOMOBILE

What might have turned out to be a much more serious accident than it really was, occurred on Main St., GRIMSBY, on Friday afternoon, last, when Vernon Piett, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Piett, North GRIMSBY, was knocked down and run over by Mr. Richard Thorp's automobile, while he was running across the road, in front of the Empire Theatre, and did not notice the motor coming.

from the East.

Mr. Thorl states that he was running at a low rate of speed and the boy was only about six feet in front of him when he noticed him first, and he could not prevent the accident.

Young Pyett was knocked down and the machine passed over his body just above his mother links; strange to say no bones were broken, but the lad received a very bad cut on his left arm, just below the elbow, and this, with some bruising about his body appeared to be all that was wrong with him.

Mr. Thorl immediately took the boy, in his machine, to the office of Dr. Gasser, where he was given treatment for his injuries, and he was afterwards taken home by his uncle, Mr. Ben Pyett. The youngster is very sore and badly shaken up and is suffering considerably from the wound in his arm, but is progressing as well as can be expected.

Mr. C. W. HARRISON NOW AT HAWKESBURY

(Montreal Express)

Mr. C. W. Harrison, former principal of Beamsville High School, and for the past year at Rockwood, has accepted the principality of Hawkesbury High School. This is considerable a step up, and the Express extends its congratulations. Hawkesbury is a town of about 4,000 population with important public buildings. The school is larger as well as the salary to that paid in Beamsville. Mr. G. E. Pentland, will be only about seven miles away from Mr. Harrison, in the town of Yankton Hill. This town is a little larger than Beamsville and possesses a fine collegiate. It is somewhat of a coincidence that our two forms of principals should both go to the leaders end of the province and will be so closely situated.

It is drawn to the attention of our readers that under the Canadian Registration Act all persons who were not of the age of sixteen years or over previous to the first of June and who have subsequently celebrated their sixteenth birthday that they must, within thirty days of celebrating such birthday, present themselves before the local Postmaster and make their Registration.

GRIMSBY EAST

Mrs. Greenwood and her wife and daughter from Winnipeg, are spending a few days this week at Niagara Falls, N. Y. They will no doubt be greatly charmed with the scenic beauty of the landscape, both above and below the Falls. Next week they intend to take in the Toronto Exposition.

Mrs. Greenwood has received word that her grandson, Lieut. A. Davidson of Dundas, is expected home this week from the front, on a furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Greenwood of GRIMSBY East, have had the pleasure this last week or so of receiving and entertaining several friends from Winnipeg. Mrs. Greenwood and two of the young ladies went down to Niagara Falls, N. Y. some days ago and those ladies were greatly delighted with their first visit to the Falls. Their ride up the River-side to Chippewa was a great delight. They were greatly taken with the scenery of the river. On their return to GRIMSBY East they took the train for Toronto and thence on to Ottawa for a week or so.

On Saturday the 17th Inst. Mr. A. Greenwood received a message that his nephew, Lieut. L. Fisher, of Paris, who has been at the front for sometime, was killed in action Aug. 14th, and his comrade Lieut. Hamilton, of St. Catharines, was killed at the same time. The parents of these noble boys feel the loss very keenly. Their sons like many others have made the supreme sacrifice for the freedom of the world.

FALL HATCHED CHICKENS

More attention should be given to fall chickens, for there is a large profit in them, writes a reader. Very often hens stop their nests away and come up with the chicks in the fall. These are, as a rule, neglected and the chicks die from exposure and want of food. Experience has taught me that it is a wise thing to care for these chicks, for they will live through the winter if properly taken care of, and be ready for the market in March or April when the price for young flocks is good.

Last fall, the 1st. of November, I three hens to hatch out thirty-four chicks. I have a room of one end of my chicken house that is plastered and has a floor and windows in it. I gave all the chicks to one hen, and put them with her in this room. I kept plenty of straw on the floor for warmth and litter, provided them with a box of oyster shell, and fed them all winter on alfalfa, grains, meat scraps and hot mush made of middlings.

I had a nice bunch of chicks ready for the market. I made a contract with the manager of a large hotel to sell them to him for 50 cents a pound. One does not mind the labor spent when considering the nice profit.

Then, chicks were hatched by home chick stole their nests away. This fall I expect to set my incubator and hope to have a larger bunch to sell in the spring.

SCRAP FOR HENS

When tankage of good quality is more readily available than meat scrap, it can likely be combined with corn to make a satisfactory ration for laying hens, conclude poultrymen at the Ohio Experiment Station who have tested the two feeds. The two materials were of practically equal value in a test extending over two years when they were fed to hens and corn in a mixed diet.

The municipal councils in a dozen of representing the public have the responsibility cast on them of avoiding or regarding any inconvenience that may be suffered; but from my reasonable view of the situation it cannot be expected that the company must voluntarily concur less more and more as the traffic increases.

The Company has been willing to leave the fixing of the rates to the administration of the Dominion railway board, the municipal by-laws to be amended accordingly; by means of which given that under a present rate of fare the service must and will be, on and after Sept. 15 next, reduced to the number of cars each way required by the by-laws.

whereby it was hoped to sell spoiled meat for good.

"What, again? Since I had a devotion to experimenting along mechanical lines and patented an invention that has been profitable. Sometimes ago the department of Justice arrested me on a few cases with a sensible hearing, and more recently offered me incidental work with them on such favorable terms that I resigned my other position. The terms include liberal compensation, one of which I am now taking. And here I am! Is that sufficient?"

"What about your forty horsepower kick? You don't practice that for drawing room exhibitions, I take it?"

"Sometimes," confessed the scientist. "I have found myself at close quarters with persons of dubious character. The fact is, that an ingenious plot to get rid of very old friend, Dr. Lethbridge, the botanist, drove me into the criminal line, and since that phase of investigation has seemed fairly to elude itself on me, officially and unofficially. Even up here where I hoped to enjoy a month's rest—do you know," he said, breaking off—"that you have a more interesting kind of ocean currents hereabouts?"

"Of course, Lonesome Cove. But kindly think that 'wore up here.' I recollect your saying that you were waiting for me. Haven't traced any scientific claims to my door, have you?"

"Let me forget my past for a little while," pleaded his visitor, "and look at yours."

Bridgwick rose. "Come upstairs," he said and led the way to the big, bare, bright studio.

From the threshold Chester Kent delivered an opinion after one appraising survey. "You really work, I see."

"I really do. Where do you see it, though?"

"All over the place. No draperies or draperies or fopperies of art here. The brush the tools the more work done in it."

He walked over to a curious contrivance resembling a small hand press, examined it, surveyed the empty case, against which were leaning face in a number of pictures all of a size and turned half a dozen of them over, ranging them and stepping back for examination.

"Good work," pronounced Kent quietly, and in some subtle way the countenance words conveyed to him the fact that the man who spoke them knew.

"It's the best there is in me at least," said Bridgwick.

Kent went slowly around the walls, keenly examining, slightly appraising. There were landscapes, genre bits, studies of the scenes in its various moods, all the varied subjects handled with a deftness of truth and drawing and colored with a clear softness quite individual.

"Have you found or founded a new system of coloring?" asked Kent as he moved among the little masterpieces. "No, don't tell me." He touched one of the surfaces delicately. "It's not paint, and it's not pastel. Oh, Lord! They're all of one size, of course." He glanced at the heavy mechanism near the easel. "They're color prints."

Bridgwick nodded. "Phototypes," said he. "I print on copper, make one printing here and remark that it gives him the creeps."

"Indeed! Well, then, that's all?" said Kent, as if speaking to him. "There's a streak of superstition there, New Englanders. Hell be to interpret it as a confession in the fact. However, Elder Bennett this morning for a trip to Cadzey. That's so much to the good."

"He may have left for a trip to Glenside for all I care," stated Bridgwick with conviction. "What's that?"

"I'll tell you as soon as I've got it over a little. Just let me copy this down with some more of your pictures." He turned to the wall again and faced another picture.

"What's this? You seem to be sketching of a dab in black and white."

"Oh, that's an imaginary face," said Bridgwick circuitously.

"Imaginary faces studied from various angles," commented Kent. "It's a very lovely face and the most beautiful I've ever seen. A fairy princess or earth by comparison might wear such expression of startled wonderment, I fancy."

"Very as well as mystery. How you grow and expand on humanities."

"There is poetry in your study of that imaginary face. Imaginary! I suppose," continued Kent, dryly as he stepped to the door. "I suppose he is an imaginary betrayer too."

"My Chinaman"—began Bridgwick quickly, when the other caught him.

"Don't be uneasy. I'm not going to reveal the foolishness of asking who he is."

"If you did I give you my word never I couldn't tell you. I only wish I knew!"

There was silence between them for a moment, then the painter broke out with the air of one who takes a confession:

"Two hours, Kent! You're a sort of detective, aren't you?"

"I've been called on."

"And you like my picture of 'The Rough Rider'?"

"Five hundred dollars worth."

"You can have that and any other picture in my studio except this one," he indicated the canvas with the brush. "If you'll bid me for me who she is."

"That might be done. We shall see. But frankly, Bridgwick, there's a touch of more importance."

"Importance? There however, there's nothing as important in this world!"

"Oh, is it so bad as that?"

A heavy knock sounded from below, followed by the Chinaman's voice, commanding Bridgwick to the name of "The Rough Rider."

"Send him up," ordered Bridgwick and the boy arrived, not but Kent had quietly recovered "The Rough Rider" from its place of exhibit.

"Special from the village," announced young Mercury. "Sign here."

After the signature had been set down and the signor had read the message with his brows, the quick Mercury, big with news.

"Stay, board above the body out the beach!"

Kent turned quickly to see Bridgwick's face. It was interested, but unmoved as he recited:

"No. Where was I? Board?"

"Lonesome Cove. Woman. Drowned swell. Washed up on a grating last night of this morning."

"It's curious how they all come to here, isn't it?" said the artist to Kent. "This is the third this summer."

"And it's a harbinger," said the boy.

"Harbinger?" said Kent. "Body was all cleaned up, they say."

"I'm sure they feed you at the office to help circulate the news, my son," said Kent. "And I'll bet you this quarter payable in advance, that you can't get back to half an hour on your wheel."

With a grin the boy took the coin. "I got you," he said and was off.

CHAPTER III. A Strange Meeting.

AND now, Bridgwick," said Kent dryly, "if I'm to help you suppose you tell me all that you know about the woman who called on you last evening?"

"Last evening? Ah, that wasn't the girl of the picture. It's an interminable six days since 'you' seen her."

"No; I know it wasn't she, having seen your picture, and since the young woman came here last night. The question is, Who?"

"Who? How did you know that a woman came here last night?"

"From common gossip."

"And where are you now?"

"I'm not here now," said Kent.

"I'm afraid you'll be here again," said Kent.

"I'm afraid you'll be here again," said Kent.

"Not wholly now, certainly. But it might have been drag. That suggests itself to me."

"A possibility. Proceed."

"She asked what point of the headland gave the best view. 'Anywhere from the first rise on is good,' I said. 'It depends on what you wish to see.' My ship coming in," he said. "It will be a fair view, then," I told her. "This is a coast of guardian reefs." What difference?" she said, and then gave me another surprise, for she quoted:

"And though we see up hedges, and bushes beyond, still beyond them there is more sea."

"That's interesting," remarked Kent, and both warblers aren't given quoting "The House of Life."

"I guess I'll go to visiting this part of the world. However, there was no ship. I looked for myself when I was trying to find the woman later. What are you smiling at?"

"Nothing. I'm sorry I interrupted."

"She walked away from me a few paces, but turned and came back at once."

"I follow my star," she said, pointing to a planet that shone low over the sea. "Lonesome was the only true pleasure—so rare and so far to follow. Remember this morning," she said in a tone of voice a command, "for Harry was an epoch in your life. Some day in the future I may need for you and recall today to your mind by what I have just said. In that day you will know the hidden things that are clear only in the chosen mind. Perhaps you will be the last person but one to see me as I am now."

Kent pulled nervously at the lobe of his ear. "Is it possible that she foretold her death?" he murmured.

"It would look so, in the light of what has happened, wouldn't it? Yet there was an uncanny air of joyousness about her too."

"I don't like it," commented Kent.

"I do not like it."

By which he meant that he did not understand it. What Chester Kent does not understand, Chester Kent does not comprehend.

"Love affair, perhaps," suggested the artist. "A woman in love will take any risk of death. However," he added, rubbing his brained head resolutely, "she had a very practical bent for a romantic person. After her mysterious prophecy she started on. I called to her to come back or I would follow and make her captain herself."

"As to what?"

"Everything—her being there, her actions, her—her apparel, the jewelry, you know, and all that."

"You've said nothing about jewelry."

"Haven't I? Well, when she turned off—"

"Just a moment. Was it the jeweler that you were going to speak of when you first accosted her?"

"Yes, it was. None of it was very valuable, I mean. Wasn't it found on the body?"

"No."

"Not? Robbery, then, probably."

Well, she came back at a stride. Her eyes were alive with anger. There came a torrent of words from her strong woman, too. Nothing of the weak dead woman left there. I insisted on knowing who she was. Before I could guard myself she had caught up a rock from the road and let me have it. I went over like a tempest. When I got up she was well along toward the cliff, and I never did find her trail in that maze of cactus and thistles."

"Show me your relative position when she attacked you."

The artist placed Kent and moved off five paces. "About like that," he said.

"Did she throw overhand or underhand?"

"It was so quick I hardly knew. But I should say a short overhand snap."

"That's pity. One more point of suspicion."

"Don't you be sure, then, that the dead woman was my victim?"

"Kent mentioned a necklace. On the crushed flesh of the dead woman's neck there is the plain imprint of a jewel setting. Now, come, Bridgwick."

"You're an artist, aren't you?"

"No," I said, busily scraping away at my copperplate. "I'm an archeologist engaged in excavating an ancient ruin from a square mile of mud."

She laughed, but at a moment became grave again. "I'm so sorry," she said. "I know I shouldn't come plodding around turns in that ridiculous way. May I—should like to buy your picture?"

"You may not," I replied.

"That isn't quite fair, is it?" she asked. "If I have done damage I should be allowed to repair it."

"Egoistic?" said I. "How do you propose to do it? I suppose that you think a picture that can be bought for a hundred dollar bill can be painted with a hundred dollar bill."

"No; I'm not altogether a Philistine," she said, and I looked up at her for the first time. Her face—Chester Kent: I know her face from the pictures. Why could not have described the house? However, there's one point clear: she is a woman of means."

She said: "I don't—wonder partly. And I'm truly sorry. It is quite ruined."

At that I recovered some measure of manner. "Forgive a heretic," I said, "who doesn't see enough people to keep him civilized. The dark doesn't matter."

She leaned over from the saddle to examine the picture. "Oh, but it isn't a duff!" she protested. "I—I know a little about pictures. It's very interesting and curious. But why do you paint it on copper?"

I explained.

"Oh," she said. "I should so like to see your prints."

"Nothing easier," said I. "My

Berlin Pastors Still Blind

ON the occasion of the four hundredth anniversary of the reformation, five prominent Protestant clergymen of Berlin issued a declaration, "in answer to manifold demonstrations of a similar character which have reached us from neutral countries." Its appearance in America was delayed, and it has received but slight attention, except among those who read into it meanings which are not on the surface. This is the document:

"We German Protestants, conscious of the Christian heritage, and Christians too which we hold in common with them, extend to all fellow believers, to those in enemy countries also, our heartfelt and brotherly greeting.

"We recognize the deepest cause of the present war to be in the anti-Christian powers which now control the lives of the people of the earth, their mutual suspicion, their covetousness, and we behold in a peace by mutual agreement and reconciliation a peace that is worth striving for.

"We find the obstacles to an honest and closer approach of the nations to be mainly the unhappy way of life and phrase by which the truth is distorted and silenced and also opinions gain currency, and we call on all, in all lands, who desire peace to resolutely combat this evil.

"We feel it a duty, in view of the present frightful war, in the name of our common Christianity, to strive herewith with determination that war as a means of settling differences between peoples shall disappear from the earth.

"Dr. K. Aner, W. Mithack-Jahn, G. Pless, Dr. F. Rittermeyer, R. Wiedenbauer."

The closing paragraph, with the frank repudiation of militarism and war, is a welcome note, coming from such a source, though out of chord with the chorus of base and glorification of arms which has disgraced the German spirit since August, 1914.

Apart from this sign of chastened spirit, the declaration is disappointing. The second paragraph affirms the cause of the war, to "worship of force, and covetousness," on the part of "the people of the earth." That is the naked truth as related to Germany's attack upon the peace of the world, but it is stark nonsense as regards Canada's participation in the struggle. The "peace by mutual agreement," which they think is worth striving for, is not a safe peace for humanity, so long as it leaves the Central Powers under the leadership which has proved itself a menace to the world.

The third paragraph finds the obstacle to peace to be mainly "the world's way of life," and calls on "all lands who desire peace to resolutely combat this evil." This sentiment shows that the truth is making no headway in Berlin. Otherwise these pastores would know that it is not lies but stern and hateful facts that are the chief obstacle to a negotiated peace.

The declaration of the Berlin pastores has been hailed in pacific circles as an evidence that "the morning light is breaking." We cannot believe it, until the darkness disappears enough to make visible some signs of "potential light." We do not find such light here, except for the lonely beam that shines out of the Shai sentence, like a good deed in a naughty world.

Let us see by amanu at the attitude of the Prussian clergy toward the policies of their masters. Even in free Canada, where public opinion has been the only law, it is hard enough to maintain an independent spirit. But the German Government leaves no room for private judgment. Pastors of the Established Church of Prussia must take this solemn obligation upon being admitted to the ministry:

"I will be submissive, faithful, and obedient to his Royal Majesty, and his lawful successors in the Government, as my most gracious King and Sovereign; promote his welfare according to my ability; prevent injury and detriment to him; and particularly endeavor carefully to cultivate in the minds of the people under my care, a sense of reverence and fidelity toward the King, love for the Fatherland, obedience to the laws, and all those virtues which in a Christian devote a good citizen; and I will not suffer any man to teach or act in a contrary spirit. In particular, I vow that I will not support any society or association, either at home or abroad, which might endanger the public security, and will inform his Majesty of any proposals made, either in my diocese or elsewhere, which might prove injurious to the state. I will preach the Word of His Glorious Majesty distinctly."

What light or leadership can be expected from a ministry that reads, submit to God to such a spirit as this?

MADRID, SPAIN.

German Professor Had It Guards of Cannons and Shoots.

A Story of how an attempted German peace offensive directed toward President Wilson was turned down immediately by Prof. Heron, an American living in Berlin, is told by the Swiss correspondent of the London Daily Mail.

The German Government, according to the correspondent, tried to get peace offers sent to the President through Prof. Heron, who was visited on April 19 by Prof. Quidde, of Munich, a friend of Count von Hertling, the Imperial German Chancellor. Prof. Quidde was accompanied by the Dutch pacifist, Dr. Jong van Beck.

Prof. Quidde said he had come to prepare the way for a meritorious peace, and gave Prof. Heron to understand that he spoke for Chancellor von Hertling and the German Foreign Office. He assured the American professor that the peace party in the Reichstag was about to gain predominance in Germany. Germany, Prof. Quidde said, was willing to make the following terms:

First, to grant autonomy to Alsace-Lorraine within the limits of the German empire, provided the allies would not broach the subject of Alsace-Lorraine at the peace conference.

Second, the Brandenburg peace treaties not to be discussed at the peace conference, although the allies might submit claims for the revision of them and Germany might make certain concessions.

Third, no economic war against Germany after the war.

Four, German colonies to be renounced.

Prof. Quidde asserted that the present offensive in France had the ultimate objective of achieving a durable peace.

Prof. Heron, the Daily Mail's correspondent, writes, after listening to the German professor, exclaiming: "I wonder that you have the effrontery to ask me to lay such a rigorous of cost and deceit before the American people. The United States intends to continue the fighting until the Prussian military power and, if necessary, the Prussian State along with it, is extinguished forever as a power for evil, whether it takes one year or ten."

Prof. Quidde adds the correspondent, left the house weeping.

The Prof. Quidde referred to above is probably Prof. Ludwig Quidde, a historian of the University of Munich, the Bavarian capital. He was a delegate to the 1913 Universal Peace Conference at the Hague.

Belgian Judges Impressed.

A despatch from the Frankfurter Zeitung shows the determined opposition the Belgians are making to the German propaganda for Flemish independence:

"A short time ago we reported that the Belgian Government, in Hasselt had sent a notice to the judicial authorities in Brussels to bring charges against and arrest two members of the Flanders council on account of their activities toward Flemish independence. That could, of course, only be considered as a demonstration, since it was impossible for German authorities to permit any such interference by an enemy Government, which had, even according to the laws of the people, nothing more to say with regard to the execution of justice in Belgium.

"According to the Wolff Bureau
the general movement has now directed that the persons arrested shall be immediately set free and that all further punishments shall be forbiden.
Furthermore, the members of the court of appeals who took part in the decision have been forbidden
the further discharge of their duties, and three of the four presidents of the Court of Appeals have been taken into custody and sent to Germany.

Reaction from Infirmaries.

In certain persons a curious reaction from physical infirmity has been observed. Napoleon'sordinate ambition and enormous egotism were probably exaggerated by the fact that he was physically small and insignificant. Tamerlane, who made himself master of nearly the whole of Asia, was lame, and, according to one of his biographers, "deformed and impositions of feature." Pope, with his deformed body, became "The Wicked Waif of Twickenham." Byron, doubtless spurred by his robust stature, swam the Hellespont. The Kaiser, with his arm withered from birth, Trotskiby, now deaf from childhood, and Nostromo, with years of brain disorder leading to insanity, were the unhappy trinity of Totent religion which has driven a whole nation into irresponsible fanaticism and almost wrecked the planet. King Richard III, exclaimed:

"Then, since the heavens have shap'd
my body so,

Let hell make crooked my mind to answer it."

—Dr. Frederick Peterson in Century.

A rocker, owned by F. C. Pyne, of London, which has been sold 6,676 times and has raised $35,000 for the Red Cross and kindred funds, was bought in for $725 as a gift sale at Malta House on behalf of the Red Cross
as the Kent prisoners of war fund.
This sale, with subscriptions, realized nearly $10,000.

Printing With Wood.

Some of the monks of Tibet are still printing books in the manner followed a few hundred years ago when printing was done from carved blocks of wood.

New Arctic Station.

A new Arctic Meteorological station equipped with wireless outfit has been established at the mouth of the Yamal and is sending out daily reports to stations in the south of N.

Railways In China.

The Government-owned railways
and telegraphic service in China
showed profits during 1917 of $12,389,000 and £4,882,000, respectively. The deficiency in the post service for the same period was $11,000,000. This leaves a net profit
in the three departments of $1,319,
000 for the year.—East and West.

perfected a motor that can safely utilize electricity drawn from storm clouds.

THE INDEPENDENT, GRIMSBY, ONTARIO

China and the Great War

PARTICIPATION in the war was a subject of controversy in China long before it was actually undertaken, and India was one of the causes leading to the crisis which incidentally made possible the short-lived Manchu restoration of last July. Those who favored such participation argued that it would give China a recognized place at the peace conference and enable her to secure two important and long-sought concessions, viz.: (1) the remission, or at least suspension, of the so-called "Boxer" indemnity, and
(2) a substantial increase of customs duties.

As to the first, several Western Governments long ago recognized the justice of the claim by remitting
an entire share of the Boxer indemnity;
and this was done not as a mere act
of generosity, but as an act of justice.
In other words, civilized men became convinced after investigation that the sum exacted from China by the Powers in 1900 was more than reimbursement for losses actually suffered by them, and amounted to a sum imposed upon a then helpless nation.

As to the second concession sought,
it will not doubt surprise the ordinary reader to learn that China must obtain the consent of the Powers in order to increase her customs duties.
This is because, that branch of her public service, while technically Chinese, is really administered by foreigners (i.e., non-Chinese) in order to secure payment of interest on China's foreign loans. Indeed, it would hardly be inaccurate to say that the Chinese customs service is a creation of foreigners. The late Sir Robert Hart devoted his life to it;
and while the creation required that the Inspector-General should be a British subject for some years to come,
representatives of other nationalities, including our own, have contributed materially to its upbuilding and now administer it.

But the control of the Powers leads to the fixing of the amount of duty, and at present this is only 2 per cent. Considering that the gravest obstacle of the Chinese Government in recent years have been financial ones, it is not strange that its officials have looked to the customs as a source of relief and have applied the present limitation as not only entirely too low, but as being rather than in the interests of foreign traders. Moreover, these foreign representatives who have been most instant upon retaining the so-called indemnity are also the ones who oppose an increase of duties; and to the Chinese, it seems, the extreme of injustice to be forced on the one hand to pay these heavy exactions and on the other to be denied the full benefit of a legitimate source of revenue to meet them.

As to these points, therefore,
China's case appears to be entirely just and reasonable. To what extent she will participate actively in the war which she has now voluntarily entered remains to be seen; but it is not unlikely that her most effective contributions will be labor. I may cite as an earnest of this the fact that the ship which brought me recently from China to America carried nearly a thousand Chinese laborers over for the Western front, entraining at Vancouver for the rail trip across Canada and thence transhipping to France. Large-limbed and brawny, these coolies were the pick of Shantung Province; and it is safe to say that for trench digging and all the heaviest work of warfare each is better fitted than the average soldier. It is interesting to note also that the plan works well for the coolie, affording him better wages, food, and clothing than he would have at home and securing provision likewise for his family in China. This augmentation of allied resources has now been in progress for months and may prove a not inconsiderable factor toward victorious outcome of the war.—Review of Reviews.

Thick Milk Is Dear.

Milk at seven cents a quart is no drear in Switzerland than that country has been taking about little else for months past, and a general strike is threatened if any increase is attempted.

Since last summer the state has been paying the cost of the last decrease. Now the farmers insist on a further increase to about nine cents a quart, and it is doubtful whether the state treasury can afford the expense. The Socialists say they will call a general strike if the price is increased.

The milk producers say they will stop all supplies unless they are allowed to charge more.

Watertight Plates.

A French botanist who has experimented with vegetable raising has determined the exact amount of water necessary for the best growth of the soybean. In general, he found that a supply of water administered unintelligently drop by drop brought better results than over systematic drenching.

Railways In China.

The Government-owned railways
and telegraphic service in China
showed profits during 1917 of $12,389,000 and £4,882,000, respectively. The deficiency in the post
service for the same period was $11,000,000. This leaves a net profit
in the three departments of $1,319,
000 for the year.—East and West.
